The Rix Centre for Leadership at the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade is proud to present the 9th Annual Night of Non-Profit Engagement, a place for community members looking to make connections and discover meaningful ways to make an impact.

Originally created for participants in the Engaged Leadership Program, the event has grown in participation and scope and has become a showcase for the exceptional work and impact by non-profit organizations in the region.

Non-profits are essential to a strong and resilient business community. By supporting this event, you are demonstrating your support for numerous organizations that deliver critical services, strengthen social infrastructure, and create opportunities for individuals and families to thrive.

About the Rix Centre for Leadership

The Rix Centre for Leadership was named after the late Dr. Don Rix, a renowned philanthropist and Governor of the Board of Trade, who was dedicated to supporting the development of young people. Through the Centre for Leadership, the Greater Vancouver Board of Trade created the Engaged Leadership Program and the Leadership Lab Series. Through education, training and mentorship, these offerings support the development of future leaders, enabling them to become engaged citizens making positive impacts on their communities.
